CARPETS. NEW STORE IN HUNTINGDON. JAMES A. BROWN has just opened a large CARPET STORE on the second floor of his brick building, where buyers will find one of the largest and best assortments of BRUSSELS, INGRAIN, DUTCH WOOL, COTTON, RAG, LIST, VENITIAN and SCOTCH HEMP Carpets, Also, COCOA and CANTON MATTINGS, and FLOOR OIL CLOTHS, Ever offered in central Pennsylvania. It is well known that a merchant who deals entirely in one line of goods buying largely from manufacturers is enabled to give his customers advantages in prices and assortment (in that line of goods) that are not to be found in stores professing to do all kinds of business. I shall aim therefore to make it the interest of all in want of the above goods, to buy at the regular Carpet and Oil Cloth Store. Dealers can buy of me by the roll at wholesale prices. ap13'69 JAMES A. BROWN.

THE ÆTNA STILL AHEAD. IT has been tried and has never failed to give satisfaction to the purchaser. Farmers will find it to their advantage to call on the subscriber during the April court and examine the above machine. It will be on exhibition at the Court House in Huntingdon during the two weeks of court. It is a combined Machine; can be changed from a Mower to a Reaper in a few moments; can be worked with a slow team, it being lighter geared than other machines and the draft being reduced to the lowest attainable point. Reaping and Mowing with the Ætna is no harder on the team than plowing oats and stubble. It is believed by all who have tried it that it is the machine best adapted to the wants of the farmers in this county. It has no side draft and no weight on the horses' necks. We will also have one of the Wood Reapers and Mowers on the ground at the same time. Farmers intending to purchase machines this season will do well to examine the above machines before purchasing elsewhere. All you want is to examine the Ætna to enable you to make up your mind what machine to buy. I am the authorized agent of Messrs. Wharton & Maguire for the above machines, also for the Willoughby Gun spring Drill. I will also have one of the famous Harpoon Hay-forks on hand, which every farmer should examine whether he needs a fork or not. Every farmer should have one. They are the best in the market. No farmer that has one could be induced to purchase any other kind. I have the exclusive right of this county. Wharton & Maguire are my agents for the sale of the above Hay-Fork. Any other person selling the above Fork in Huntingdon county will be dealt with according to law in such cases. Don't forget where to call. At Wharton & Maguire's, or at the Court House during court week. THOMAS W. MONTGOMERY, ap9-2m Neff's Mills, Hunt. co., Pa.

DOCTOR BLANCHARD, OR THE BACHELOR'S LOVE.

BY TRAVE.

When I said I would die a bachelor, I did not think I should live till I were married.—Shakspeare.

The thermometer is nine degrees below zero and yet it is falling. 'Tis very cold! How it snows! How it blows! Ugh, the chills run over me. Thank God I have this comfortable shelter—wonder if the poor are all enjoying comfort, or if there is any mortal obliged to endure this weather shelterless, without the comfort of a cheerful grate? Ah, the fire is pleasant, I will change my coat for my wrapper; my boots for my slippers, and take ease in my old arm chair. Thus, solliloquized Dr. Blanchard, after he had arrived safely home from Colton five miles distant, where he had been called professionally.

After seating himself in the old arm chair, which was one of olden style and occupied a place in the homestead since the days of his great grand father—consequently it was considered a relic of more than ordinary value, he examined the package of mail he had received on his way home. Letter after letter was opened. One inquired about this disease and another that. Some wished one prescription, some another, and a few advocated the true principle of honesty by enclosing amount due.

"What can this be?" he loudly remarked, picking up at the same time a paper. "Literary Cassaon," "that's something new," he said, for that was the heading. "I am glad to have something of this kind to read such blustery evenings." Column after column was perused until suddenly his eyes fell on an article entitled, "Woe to the Bachelor," by C*. Now the Doctor was one of that peculiar title and of course was interested. It was a very imprudent article, thought he. Why are we called monstrous? Why vagabonds, inhuman, forlorn, &c? I term it indecent—the essence of pertinence and I will retaliate. "Where is my pen and pencil?" he muttered as he arose from the chair. Soon they were at hand and the old chair again occupied. A few moments reflection and the Doctor proceeded thus:

BACHELOR.

He is called, old bachelor,
Monstrosity of life,
Vagabond, forlorn, inhuman,
Because he chooseth not a wife.

Yes, he is called old bachelor, old vagabond, forlorn specimen of humanity, &c. All because he prefers happiness to that of sorrow; peace to that of rebellion and prosperity to that of adversity. Old bachelor! simply because he prefers single blessedness to that of double thunder. Was not every man born free and equal and of the same inalienable rights? Has he not the privilege; the pleasure—yea, the power of doing as he pleases? Cannot man enwrap himself in the blessedness of single statedness without every body pointing their fingers at him and endeavoring to stamp the blush of shame where all is right, bright and a happy future? Is he an old forlorn specimen of humanity, simply because he prefers quietness to an infant bedlam? Is he an old cold hearted wretch because he would ten thousand times rather live in a hut, or dilapidated hovel by himself, than in a large mansion or beautiful palace with a woman who is continually scolding, eternally brawling and everlastingly yammering? Is he an old vagabond—monstrosity of social life, because he prefers the company of his favorite dog, or affectionate cat to that of Miss Wonder, Miss Thunder or old Mrs. Pollywant? As one in the name of all that is true, harmless and good ask, why do people strive to heap on our shoulders that which is unjust, that which would cause angels to frown and devils to blush. Ah, methinks I hear them say, "we know not what we do." My heart is made to throb—yet they say it is flinty; my pulse is made to beat, my eyes sparkle and my whole soul is made to tremble when I gaze around me and view the picture of sorrow, want, grief and despair, arising from the great fear of being an old bachelor. See the great panorama spread out before us. View each picture closely and singly, observe the poverty, wretchedness, disgrace and criminalities. See the unhappy homes, the discontented views and the miserable little ones. How many have originated from the fear of being an old bachelor? Would it not be better for hundreds; yea thousands of men if they were enjoying the solitude of a happy bachelor's life? Would it not have been better if they had done as I have done? Endured the fears and sneers of a portion of inexperienced humanity and allowed themselves to become forlorn? Take all things into consideration and remember that if the old bachelor is a poor forlorn devil, the poor forlorn devil deserves his due.

After finishing the production, then reading it and re-reading it; making an erasure occasionally and punctuating accordingly, he seemingly sat in profound study.

"Step out to tea, Doctor," said a little intruder who had suddenly flung open the door and popped in.

Arousing from his reverie, the Doctor arose and obeyed the summons.

At table he appeared unusually quiet. Hastily partook of a frugal repast then returned to his MS.

"What is the matter with the Doctor this evening?" asked Miss Mary De'Forest, a frequent and distinguished visitor of the family with whom the Doctor had preferred his home.

"Likely he has a difficult patient," suggested Mrs. Climpson, the lady of the house.

"Bachelors are frequently quiet.—What solitude they must endure," remarked Mrs. Climpson's mother, with a smile.

Many were the surmises, suggestions and remarks relative to the Doctor, but of course no one was the wiser.

After the Doctor had returned to his room, lit his favorite "havana" and occupied his former position in the old chair, he resumed study of the subject before him in this wise. Who can C* be? Perhaps 'tis Clare Roulette. If so I would be immediately suspected as the author of this communication, should it appear before the public eye. I will pursue a different course. It 'twas Clare I will know it.

Clare Roulette was a young man of great ability. He was an original genius and a young man whose every act foreshadowed a prosperous future. He was the only son of a wealthy parent, Major John Roulette. The Major was of very humble heritage, his father being a laboring man, and at the breaking out of the war of 1812 he enlisted as a private where he contracted a severe cold which terminated in consumption—finally death. Consequently the Major, four brothers and three sisters with the mother, were left to the guidance and guardianship of Divine Providence.

The Major, or rather John, left the parental roof very soon after the death of his father, he being the eldest of the eight children. It was one of those whole souled, benevolent neighbors that took John—reared him up in the way of wisdom and taught him her paths were the paths of peace.

At the age of eighteen he began an apprenticeship with a shoemaker, that being his favorite trade. Time rolled on. At the business he became an expert. So rapidly did he learn, that on one occasion before he donned "apprentice" for "jour," his boss, he being a dutchman, remarked, "Shon will soon be more as able to instruct as to be instructed."

What a gala day when John was free. Not only with himself, but with the old boss who presented John with a freedom suit worthy the occasion and a purse of fifty dollars. Extending the latter, he said, "Shon I gives you dish. You leaves to-morrow—your fortune you seeks. Always remember your old boss, and Shon, always mind the great principle of honesty ish the goot policy; mind dat Shon and you'll be a rich man."

The morrow at hand, all things in readiness, John Roulette started out on his own responsibility as journeyman shoemaker. Every effort he made proved successful. All work was done on the principle of honesty—he seemed destined to prosper. By strict attention to business on a grand moral principle he soon became proprietor of a large wholesale and retail boot and shoe store. At this business he continued to flourish until one day, as he termed it, "becoming tired of the monotonous handling of leather," he became speculator in land. Even in this, prosperity forsook him not. One successful speculation after another added so immensely to his store of wealth, that to-day he is worth four hundred thousand dollars.

"God moves in a mysterious way,
His wonders to perform."

The poor journeyman shoemaker a few years ago is now John Roulette, the wealthy Major.

About the time Major preferred new business he preferred himself a partner by choosing the only daughter of Hon. T. Gale a highly respectable citizen in the same town which he resided.

They had two children. Besides Clare, whom I have already mentioned, there was Olive, frequently called the "idolized," originating from her appearance at home as well as in society. Always pleasant and agreeable. A friend to the poor as well as to the more fortunate. Clare considered her unequaled, excepted by one. She was pretty. A truer heart never beat, a purer soul never lived.

"A soft subduing grace around her breathed."

"Each free and joyous word, that flowed
In music from her tongue,
Like gush of marble fountain, showed
The pure source whence it sprung.
I never saw a cloud come o'er
Her brow of virgin snow,
Except when pity bade her pour,
The tear for others' woe."

It was one of those beautiful May evenings after Clare's correspondence to the "Cassaon" that Dr. Blanchard left H——, after visiting a patient, and while passing through the town a storm overtook him. The clouds grew heavier and darkness enshrouded the earth. One peal of thunder after another rent the very heavens. Amethystine flame after flame froliced in their forked course across the horizon. The Doctor rode on, thinking "it would soon blow over, perhaps pass around." He was mistaken. Scarcely had he left the town until the rain and hail fell thick and heavily. Hastily reining up his steed, alighting at a gate of a very large yard in front of a brick mansion, he hitched his horse, opened the gate and soon took shelter in a grape arbor which afforded little protection from the icy missiles that fell regardless of objects. The rain soon began to find its way through the leafy covering, the Doctor decided to retreat. Imagine his surprise when discovering the horse which he left at the gate had already bade farewell to Doctor, hitching strap and post to lead the advance. He concluded to remain and make the best of it. Down he sat meditating exposure of physicians, wet doctor, horse gone, and worst of all ten miles to walk. When would he get home? How would he get there (?) were questions arising in his mind. Soon the rain abated. The "golden orb" once more sent forth his invigorating rays through the heavy mist which overhung the earth. Nature assumed a different aspect. Sublime were his thoughts as he sat in the arbor viewing the beauty of the enclosure. Flowers were on every side, representing nearly every color in the rainbow, while at the same time, the bow had arched itself across the eastern sky.

LETTER FROM INDIA.

The following is the copy of a private letter from Rev. J. D. Brown, who for eight years past has been stationed as a missionary in India:

In Camp at Golagokam Nath, Oudh, India, March 8, 1869.

Another day's active duties are over, and I have time to write you at least another page. Suppose I give you a resume of to-day's work. This will give you a pretty fair specimen of missionary work of several kinds. I was about at daylight and my native cook had me a cup of tea ready by the time I had dressed. This "chote hazari" (little breakfast) is the universal custom in India, and in a country which gives a home to so many stomach and liver diseases, a cup of tea and a toast before going out in the morning are real preventatives from disease, at least to a great extent, and I am not sure but that the same custom would prove beneficial in America, especially in the regions in which fever and ague frequently prevail.

This over, I sallied forth with one of my native preachers by name Abdul Ali. We met a few persons and scattered some Gospel seed, much of which doubtless fell by the wayside. At about 8 o'clock, we returned to my tent and I devoted an hour in the not by any means light duty devolving upon me as a member of the Conference Publishing Committee, viz: reviewing or rather examining a manuscript on Theology in the Urdu language. There are three members of the committee, and all MSS. in Urdu and Hindi, designed for publication at our mission press, have to pass through our hands and undergo inspection and criticism. If a MSS. is accepted by the committee, it is forwarded to the manager of the press for publication, but if rejected it goes back to the author.

Next came breakfast, which consisted of boiled rice and "chichki," an Indian dish consisting of green peas, cabbage, potatoes, "ghi," (clarified butter,) and a number of Indian spices. You would probably have condemned the whole affair, but to an "old Indian" like me, it is no mean dish. With this I had a cup of good coffee. While at breakfast the village postman handed me a letter from my wife, a copy of the Globe of January 13th and the Christian Advocate of January 14th.—These papers had been read and sent to my camp by my wife. A few minutes had of course to be devoted to these highly prized weekly visitors from home, after which my native preachers came in to prayers.

At about noon I went out to visit a Government Anglo-vernacular school, near at hand. Spent over an hour in examining the boys in the various languages taught, i. e., English, Urdu, Hindi and Persian. I concluded with an address in which I did not forget to introduce religion, wrote my opinion of the school in the "Visitor's Book," and returned to my tent. Spent another hour on the Urdu manuscript and wrote a letter to my wife. In the meantime my cook was preparing my dinner, which consisted of grilled chicken, boiled potatoes and very good cold slaugh, or rather hot slaugh, which by the way I had taught my cook how to make.

Dinner was over at 5 o'clock, and taking one of my native preachers I started for the Bazaar, for our regular evening preaching. I had no trouble in collecting a good sized crowd on the street, to which I tried to explain the folly of idolatry, and the way of salvation through Christ. When I had spoken about half an hour I introduced my native preacher and sat just behind him, while he followed up my sermon with a solemn warning concerning the awful end to which they were fast hastening. While he was speaking, an impudent Brahmin came into the crowd and tried hard to get the people to go away and leave that "babbler," who as he said, was only talking nonsense; but two or three persons turned on him with unusual independence, (for the people generally are afraid of the Brahmins,) and told him that if he did not wish to hear he could go about his business and not trouble them. By the time my native preacher had finished his address it was getting dark. So we turned our faces toward our tents, which we reached just as dark had settled down over the grove. A cup of tea was relished after the hard work of out-door preaching, which by the way is much more tiresome than preaching in a church. The Globe claimed a little more attention; opening it I found and read through carefully Governor Geary's Annual Message, which I consider a very able State paper. May old Pennsylvania always have as clear-headed a man as General Geary at the helm of State. I was also much gratified to learn from another column that the caucus of Republican Senators and Representatives had honored themselves by unanimously nominating our friend Hon. John Scott for a seat in the United States Senate. I have no doubt he was duly elected, and will prove to be one of the most reliable men in that august body. After finishing the perusal of the Globe my native preachers and Bible colporteurs came in to prayers; and I wish you could have heard and understood the earnest and highly appropriate prayer offered up by one who four years ago was a Mohammedan manlu, or preacher. I am sure it would have done you good. After pleading earnestly for a blessing on the poor, deluded thousands gathering here, in the vain hope that they can wash away their sins in a pool of filty water near at hand, he continued his prayer (in Hindostan of course) about thus:—"Now, Lord, why not save these thousands, yea, all of the people at this Mela by means of us thy servants; not that we may get honor thereby, but that thy name may be glorified. There is nothing too hard for thee, O, Lord! Come then, we entreat thee, and save save all these people, &c., &c." After prayers my dear native brethren went to their little tent alongside of mine, not forgetting to utter tenderly the genuine oriental salutation "Salaam," which means, as you know, "peace." May God bless these dear servants of Christ! One of them has nearly preached his lungs away. I doubt if he will live another year. Just now one of them called out to the chowkidars mentioned in the former part of this letter, "Chowkidar, khabardar raho," i. e., "Watchman, be vigilant." The watchman who was half asleep, simply gave a grunt and repeated the name of his god "Ram-ram." But heavy eyes warn me that it is time to conclude the recreations as well as labors of the day, so with a prayer for you and yours, as well as my own dear ones, I say good night.

March 10.—The people are gathering by thousands, singing the praises of their heathen idols or rather deities, as they seme. One or two in a crowd will sing almost through a verse, the last word of which is "mahadeo," but just as he reaches that word all the crowd, men, women and children, join in, at the top of their voices, and make the plains ring again with "mahadeo" (the great god.) Sitting in my tent I can see the crowd passing, like a straggling army, toward the sacred pool. Here are men with children on their shoulders; there a woman with a four year old boy naked, with the exception of a few charms, principally consisting of shells, tied around his neck. The boy sits astraddle of her shoulders; balanced on her head is a mud vessel, a kind of large jar; before her walks a diminutive donkey, with a baby in one side of the pannier, and some vegetables, etc., in the other.—Here comes a fakir finely dressed, i. e., his hair, which reaches almost to his heels, is stiff with a rather odorous ointment, which is simply cow dung; over his entire body is smeared a thick coat of ashes. This is the amount of his toilet, always excepting a string of sacred wooden beads, which he carries in his hand, and turning one after another over his fingers, mutters "Ramram." By him walks a Mohammedan fakir, more decently dressed. He wears no turban, and his long robe is dyed a dull orange color. This son of the false prophet heartily despises his Hindoo brother—calls him a "kafir", a dog, &c., but you observe he too has a string of beads, which he counts as he goes, repeating as each bead drops from his fingers "Alah, Alah" (God, God,) or "Subhan Ala, Subhan Ala," (Praise God, praise God!)

Here comes a big fat Rajah riding on an elephant. Before him rides a man on horse-back, with an old fashioned bee-hive shaped drum hanging on either side of his horses, shoulders, like a cavalryman's holsters. These drums he beats vigorously, but fails to make as good music as you and I used to bring out of mother's old brass kettle. Beggar boys by the dozen run beside and behind the elephant, and perform gymnastic feats which far out-do anything old Huntingdon hopefuls dare venture. See yon wiry little fellow has made a wheel of himself, and throwing himself sidewise goes over and over faster than the elephant can walk. At each turn he shouts "moharaj" (great Rajah) "Abad raken" (may you live for ever.) Servants dressed in all styles precede and follow "his majesty," some on camels, some on horses, others on mules, asses and bullocks, and many on foot. Next follows a long line of pilgrims, each carrying a basket filled with diminutive bottles of Ganges water on each end of a bamboo, thrown across the shoulder. But enter the Bazaar.—What a sight! Here are men from Cabul and Cashmere with dried fruits of various kinds, a step farther brings us to the shop of an enterprising Mohammedan. Here you can buy almost anything from a row of pins to a Yankee clock. The shopman recognizes the "Padu sohib" (me) and asks me to grant him prosperity for the day by buying something. Now we meet some boys who attend the English schools in various parts of the district. Not wishing to lose so fair an opportunity for displaying their English, they step forward and say (just remember it is 4 o'clock, P. M.) "Good morning, isir," (they cannot say "sir" without putting an i before it,) "are your honor well?" Remembering distinctly our own blunders when we began to talk Hindostan, we smile as easily as possible, and answer in a language they understand much better than they ever will English. But preaching hour has come. See yonder crowd listening to my native preachers expounding the word of life. I must go and take my turn, for the crowd will not disperse until after dark.

Eight Hour Law.

To our mind there seems to be a great deal of bungling legislation, not only by our State Legislatures but also by Congress, the highest legislative tribunal in the land. To cite an instance or two by way of example we have only to refer to the eight hour law, passed by Congress during the administration of Mr. Johnson, approved by him and put into practical operation. The law in effect simply allowed government employees ten hours pay for eight hours work, and was so decided by Mr. Johnson's Attorney General. Since Grant went into power, Attorney General Hoar reversed the decision of his predecessor, declaring that the law meant nothing more nor less than that men who worked but eight hours should receive pay for but eight hours labor, &c., &c. This decision was at once carried into effect, and as the sequel was shown, it created a tremendous furore amongst Government employees everywhere. Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts, the father of the law, was appealed to for his decision as to what was intended to be meant when the bill was passed. He promptly replied that it was intended by the passage of the bill to pay government employees the same amount for eight hours labor as they formerly received for ten hours, so that General Grant has been obliged to issue his proclamation to that effect, thereby laying aside the decision of his Attorney General.

We could mention other cases in point, but we think the one cited above is sufficient to teach our law-makers to say just what they mean, then there will be no disputing over the intention and meaning of the question after it has become a law. One great fault we have to find is that our laws, as a general thing, are put in such shape, that nobody short of a lawyer can interpret their intent and meaning, and not very many of the lawyers.

Let it be Done.

In another column we publish the resolutions passed at a public meeting of the friends of domestic industry, held in Philadelphia, April 29, 1869. The first resolution contains the gist of the whole, when it states, "that the development of our own resources and the firm possession of our own markets are much more important than foreign commerce to the welfare of all the people of this nation, to the solvency of the government, and to the attraction of the better class of emigrants; and that by no other method can a durable resumption of specie payments be attained than by increasing American production and checking importation." The second resolution alleges that in order to attain that end "we must be able to produce at home nearly all the manufactured articles needed by our people," which is just what America should have done long ago. Too long have we been depending on the manufactured articles of other countries, when we produce the raw material at home, and it is time that the steps proposed in the resolutions before us should be adopted. While we have been developing our own resources to a great extent in the extracting of iron, and other ores, from the bowels of the earth, and by the production of cotton and other fabrics, yet a very small proportion of these resources have been worked upon by us and made into the necessary articles. They have, on the other hand, been exported to foreign lands, there manufactured, and then brought back to us.

American industry should be protected as well as augmented, and the commendation of the fifth resolution should meet with the early attention of Congress. We do not believe that the carrying out of the intent of the resolutions will result any more in the aggrandizement of the employer than to the employed. Both will derive equal benefits from a protective policy; for as business is stable and firm so is labor sure of its reward, but without a firm basis neither the employer or employed can work to advantage.

☞One mistake the Administration at Washington has made, was in ignoring, to too great an extent, the working men of the party. No party can succeed without effort, and when the do-nothings are honored over the heads of active and deserving party men, the party must suffer.

☞Instead of $1,000,000, Secretary Boutwell has ordered his Assistant Secretary to buy $2,000,000 worth of bonds weekly until further orders.

American Industry.

At a public meeting of the friends of domestic industry, held in Philadelphia, April 29, 1869, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The Congressional Committee of Ways and Means is instructed to consider the propriety of revising the Tariff laws, and to recommend to Congress at its next session such legislation upon that subject as may seem to be expedient: therefore, Resolved, that the following statement be presented to the said Committee as embodying the views of the productive industries of this country:—

FIRST, That the development of our own resources and the firm possession of our own markets are much more important than foreign commerce to the welfare of all the people of this nation, to the solvency of the government, and to the attraction of the better class of immigrants; and that by no other method can a durable resumption of specie payments be attained than by increasing American production and checking importation.

SECONDLY, That to maintain such possession of our own markets, and thus to attain financial independence, we must be able to produce at home nearly all the manufactured articles needed by our people, including those which require the facilities of great establishments, of many workmen trained to special arts, and of large capital, and we must also be constantly undertaking some new industries which the advances in the arts and the progress of civilization require.

THIRDLY, That it is impossible for such great establishments to prosper, for smaller ones to spring up, and for the new industries to take root under a fickle and sometimes unfriendly policy which holds them constantly in fear of revulsions.

FOURTHLY, That as a means of promoting regular growth in the productive powers of our country, it is the duty of the government to announce, adhere to, and steadfastly act upon the policy of defending its citizens in their industrial conflict with foreign nations, of assuring to those who are supporting the government a marked preference in our markets over aliens who are our rivals in peace and our foes in war, and of obliging foreigners who wish to reap the advantage of the better markets created by our institutions, to pay toll upon the goods they send here, and thus share the expense of maintaining those institutions.

FIFTHLY, That a policy of firm and steady protection to American industry being distinctly announced, a general tariff law should be framed embracing the entire range of important goods and superseding all former tariff laws, the duties being made specific so far as conveniently possible and high enough to afford fair wages and reasonable profits to such American working men and employers as apply themselves with assiduity, skill, and intelligence to industries suited to our condition and resources. The schedule prepared by the Pennsylvania Industrial League, which is founded mainly upon the legislation (unfortunately not concurrent) of both Houses of Congress, and upon the Report of the Commissioner of Revenue, and which, while largely increasing the free list and converting numerous ad valorem into specific duties, reduces the rates upon many articles, and proposes but moderate increase in any case, is worthy of attention as a serious effort by competent persons to frame a symmetrical system of duties on imports.

SIXTHLY, That in order to diminish the labor of Congress, and to expedite those future modifications in tariff legislation which the development of new industries or the changes of trade may from time to time render desirable, some department, bureau, or commission, should be created, specifically charged with the duty of keeping watch over this subject, with authority to examine witnesses, make investigations, hear statements, and submit to Congress at the opening of each session a brief report, accompanied, when necessary, by a draft of a bill embodying such legislation as may seem expedient.

SEVENTHLY, Experience having clearly shown that the maintenance of domestic production is the only sure method for reducing the prices of manufactured goods, it is grossly unjust to the employers of operatives who ask for the legislation needful for keeping their hands employed, to charge them with endeavoring to aggrandize themselves at the expense of the public. They do not desire or expect for themselves or their employees to escape from the toil and strife which are the common lot of man, but they protest against being obliged to follow the employers of other countries in experimenting on the degree of degradation and misery which can be endured by a laboring population, and they claim that our national legislation should be such as to enable our producing classes to enjoy civilizing influences, and to permit employers to acquire solidity enough to give steadiness to manufacturing pursuits.

RESOLVED, That a committee consisting of Messrs. Joseph Wharton, Henry C. Lea, William Sellers, and Morton McMichael, be appointed to present the foregoing statement to the Committee of Ways and Means, with power to confer with that Committee, and to take such action in the premises as may conduce to the common welfare.

MORTON MCMICHAEL, Chairman.
CYRUS ELDER, Secretary.

☞We entirely agree with the N. Y. Times, when it says that "we don't believe—and we make the statement for the benefit of several Democratic papers—that Grant has any ambition to "measure swords" with the great military leaders of Europe. Grant has never displayed any craving for military glory, or any desire to get up wars for its gratification. In the great war of which he was the victor, he fought with all his might for the success and triumph of the Union flag.—But for the glitter of war, the pomp of the battle field, and the display of power, he never showed the least liking or the least desire. He was a soldier by necessity, but is a man of peace by nature. We have every reason to believe that his desire is to distinguish his administration by far higher glories than can be won on the bloody field of battle."

Huntingdon County Ejectment Case.

[From the Pittsburg Commercial.]

The important ejectment case of Wm. Colon, a citizen of Illinois, vs. John R. Hunter, a citizen of Huntingdon county, was terminated on Wednesday the 19th inst. This case, which occupied the attention of the U. S. Court for a number of days, was a very important one, as it involved the title to 3,500 acres of land in Huntingdon county.

Hon. S. A. Purviance addressed the jury for the plaintiff on Tuesday, and was followed by Wm. Dorris, of Huntingdon, for the defense. Hon. John Scott closed the case for the defense and was followed by R. Bruce Petrikin, of Huntingdon, who closed the case for the plaintiff. The arguments were all able ones, and a large number of of the members of the bar of our county were present and heard them.

CHARGE OF JUDGE M'CANDLESS.

This is an action of ejectment for the Juniata Forges and Rolling Mill, together with twenty-eight tracts of land containing about eight thousand five hundred acres, situated in Huntingdon county and proven at the trial to be worth from $85,000 to $100,000. Both parties claim the title under Dr. Peter Shoenberger, who on the 31st of October 1839, conveyed the same to his two sons, George K., and John H., subject to a certain sum charged upon the land for the benefit of two of his daughters and their heirs. On the 13th of March, 1849, his grantees sold the property to Edwin F. Shoenberger in fee, subject in part to this encumbrance, for the sum of $46,000. Edwin F. Shoenberger, on the 14th of May following, conveyed the forges and land to Andrew P. Wilson, who, on the 6th of January, 1868, executed a deed for the same to Wm. Colon, the plaintiff in the case, for the nominal consideration of one dollar.

Thus far this shows a legal title in the plaintiff.

But the defendants exhibit certain instruments of writing and judicial proceedings, which change the whole character of the title, and recalling them to the recollection of the jury, you are invited to bear in mind the several dates. The deed from E. F. Shoenberger to General Wilson, though upon its face, seeming to convey an absolute title, was accompanied by a defeasance of the same date, which converted it into a mortgage, or a mere security for the payment of money. It was doubtless designed to be fair, but is singular and extraordinary in its terms, and has been the source of nearly twenty years' litigation. E. F. Shoenberger, anxious to negotiate the loan, sells the lands in dispute to Wilson for the alleged sum of $50,000, and taking Wilson's bonds, six in number, for $5,000 each amounting to $30,000, payable out of Juniata Forge property and nothing else, and for which Wilson incurred no personal liability whatever. By the terms of the defeasance, if Shoenberger negotiated the bonds, or deposited them collaterally, he was to lift them at maturity, was not to suffer suit to be brought at any time against Wilson for the same, and if he did, to forfeit and pay the sum of five hundred dollars for each bond upon which suit might be instituted, and was subject to a general penalty of $60,000 for the performance of the several covenants. Upon the lifting and delivery of Wilson's bonds by Shoenberger, then Wilson was to reconvey whatever title he had to Shoenberger. Strange as it may seem, upon a deposit of these bonds, with the Lancaster Bank, a loan of $30,000 was negotiated.

What then, was the character of these two instrument of even dates—the deed and the agreement or defeasance? They did not constitute a sale, so as to vest the title to the lands in controversy in Gen. Wilson. They were simply a mortgage, and subject to all the requirements of the recording acts.

Before proceeding further upon this subject let us advert to the title of defendants. On the 1st of February, 1850, G. K. Shoenberger obtained a judgment in Court of Common Pleas of Huntingdon county against Edwin F. Shoenberger for the sum of $2,092-50 upon a note dated the 2d of April, 1849, prior in date to the conveyance to Wilson, and upon which there was a judicial sale and a sheriff's deed made to Dr. Peter Shoenberger for all the land in dispute, except two tracts, which were subsequently purchased by him under a judgment dated the 2d of February, 1850. The deed or more properly speaking, the mortgage to Wilson, was not recorded until the 12th of February, 1850, more than six months after its date and ten days after the date of the judgments under which the defendants derive their title, as to them it was an unrecorded mortgage, and the judicial sale divested its lien. It ceased be an incumbrance upon the property. These defendants having acquired the title of Dr. Shoenberger obtained at Sheriff's sale, were purchasers under a lien paramount to the mortgage, and have a title superior to any which could be claimed by Gen. Wilson, or any person claiming under him. Wilson having no title could convey none to Colon, the plaintiff in this suit, and it matters little whether his deed of the 6th of January, 1868, was designed to give jurisdiction to the Courts of the United States, or not, for he had no title to convey.

And we charge you as a matter of law, that the deed of Gen. Wilson to the plaintiff, taken in connection with the instrument of writing of the same date, executed and delivered by Colon to Wilson, show whatever title Wilson had, remained in him, that no title passed to Colon, and your verdict should be for the defendants. As to the question of notice, the opinion of the Court will be found in answer to the points submitted by the counsel for the plaintiffs.

POINTS ANSWERED.

The following points were submitted to the Court for the plaintiffs:

1. That the plaintiffs having given in evidence a legal title, the jury, under the pleadings of the case, cannot inquire into the nature or character of the deed from Wilson to Colon of the sixth of January, 1868, and whether said deed convey to Colon an absolute title or a defeasable or trust estate can make no difference as either of said titles would be sufficient to entitle the plaintiffs to a recovery. (Answer.)—We instruct you that in law the deed and papers of same date conveyed no title to the plaintiffs.

II. That the title of defendants, derived as it is from Dr. Shoenberger, who was the purchaser at Sheriff's sale, on a judgment against Edwin Shoenberger, cannot avail them (the defendants) if the jury believe Dr. Shoenberger and John and George Shoenberger had notice of the existence of the deed from A. P. Wilson of the 14th of May, 1849, and the accompanying defeasance and bonds (constituting as decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania a mortgage) before their judgments were entered of record. (Answer) We instruct you that neither Dr. Shoenberger or the defendants had such notice as would bind them in law, and we refuse to charge you as requested on this point.

III. That if the jury rely upon the testimony of General A. P Wilson and Edwin F. Shoenberger, that Dr. Peter Shoenberger, John and George Shoenberger had notice of the existence of a deed from Edwin Shoenberger to A. P. Wilson, of the 14th of May, 1849, and the defeasance and bonds, and that the notice was communicated to them before the entry of their judgment upon which the sale was made to Dr. Peter Shoenberger by the Sheriff of Huntingdon county, the title of the said Peter Shoenberger thus acquired was taken subject to the deed of the 14th of May, 1849, and accompanying agreement and bonds, and the notice if given as aforesaid, would be equivalent in law to the actual recording of said deed, and the plaintiff would be entitled to a verdict. [Answer.]—We refuse to so instruct you.

The following points were submitted by counsel for the defense:

I. That the deed of May 14th, 1849, of Edwin F. Shoenberger to A. P. Wilson, taken in connection with the agreement of the same date, and the bonds therein recited, do not constitute a sale, so as to vest the title, in the lands in controversy, in A. P. Wilson, but a mortgage only. [Answer.] This point is affirmed.

II. That neither the deed nor the defeasance having been recorded until after the entry of the judgments of George K. and Peter Shoenberger against Edwin F. Shoenberger, the lien of those judgments had priority over the lien of the mortgage, and the sheriff's sale made upon those judgments to Dr. Peter Shoenberger, vested in him a title to the land in dispute, divested of said mortgage and superior to any title which could be claimed under that mortgage by A. P. Wilson or any person claiming under him.—[Answer.] We so charge you.

III. That A. P. Wilson being the holder of an unrecorded mortgage, which never became a lien upon the premises, had no right to retain them, as against the purchaser at sheriff's sale, as decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in 10 Casey, page 124, and consequently his vendee can not now recover possession of the premises against those claiming under the sheriff's vendue. [Answer.] You are so instructed.

IV. That the sheriff's sale to Dr. Poter Shoenberger discharged the mortgage executed by Edwin F. Shoenberger to A. P. Wilson, and left no interest in the land vested in Wilson; and his deed subsequently executed to the plaintiffs in this action, passed the title to him, and the verdict of the jury must be for the defendants. [Answer.] We so charge you.

V. That the deed of A. P. Wilson to William Colon, dated January 6, 1868, taken in connection with the instrument of writing of the same date, executed and delivered to said Wilson by Colon shew, as matter of law, that whatever title A. P. Wilson had remained in him; that no title passed to Wm. Colon, the plaintiff, and your verdict must be for defendants. (Answer.) You are so instructed.

THE VERDICT.

The jury retired, and after an absence of about an hour found a verdict for defendants.

State Sunday School Convention.

The Annual Convention will be held at Williamsport, Pennsylvania, beginning on Tuesday, June 1st., at ten o'clock, A. M.

Arrangements have been made on a liberal scale, to make this the best Sunday School Convention held in Pennsylvania.

Sunday School teachers and Superintendents, and clergymen interested in the work, are cordially invited to be present, from all parts of the State.

Each Sunday School is requested to send one or more delegates.

In order to secure entertainment, delegates will please notify the committee at Williamsport, of their intention to attend the Convention. Address as early as possible,

LARIATING A LOCOMOTIVE.—The Sacramento reporter says: It is currently reported that a new tribe of Indians have been discovered near Independence, on the line of the Central Pacific, who would seem to be as well posted in regard to railroad matters as their red skin brethren of the plains. The other day a locomotive having by to their bewilderment, they resolved to lie in wait or pursue and lariate the monster.

Accordingly they made a very strong lariat, and perceiving the mystery approaching rapidly, stretched across the track, either end being held by 20 or 30 of the wounded captors. The engine came thundering along, the lariat was struck just below the head light, and it is said that the Indians exhibited greater feats of ground and lofty tumbling than was ever seen in a first class circus.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

In what a wondrous age we live,
Not many seem to know;
But few the mighty change perceive,
Since fifty years ago:
Our ancestors did never dream,
When things moved very slow,
Of what we're doing now by steam—
Say fifty years ago.
Gentlemen's and Boys Boots and Shoes then
Were made with little show,
But LEWIS RICHTER makes the "styles"
At prices very low. my13-3m

Brief Items.

We will have no more spring elections, under the new Registry law.

The Soldiers' Monument for Juniata county is a fixed fact.

29,800,000 feet of timber have been cut and put into Beech Creek, Centre county, this season.

Hon. Andrew Gregg died in Centre county on the 14th inst. He was distinguished as a soldier and politician.

We publish in another column the result of an important ejectment suit between Wm. Colon and John R. Hunter. Read it.

Our subscribers should preserve a copy of this number, as it contains the list of many of the dead soldiers and other information.

Mr. Jackson White has our thanks for a present of some of the largest and best stalks of rhubarb it has ever been our pleasure to try

Grateful, very grateful, should every one be to witness the glorious prospect of an abundant crop of fruit, grain and vegetables, that everywhere meets our gaze.

James Snyder, an employee on a wood train, had his leg broken on Wednesday last by being run over with a car wheel, a short distance below this place.

The Huntingdon Silver Cornet Band has been engaged by a fire company in Altoona to attend the firemen's parade in Harrisburg which takes place to-day.

A gentleman named James Peck, hailing from Juniata county, was pecked by a confidence man at the depot in Pittsburgh, recently, of the sum of forty-five dollars.

The Standard man will continue to spell arctic with only one c, thus—artic. Thee had better start on an "artic" expedition, friend T., or quit drinking 'artic' soda water.

To cure the toothache saturate a piece of clean cotton wool with a strong solution of ammonia, and apply immediately to the affected tooth. The relief is instantaneous.

If one enterprising man in a town begins to 'scratch' he starts everybody else to doing likewise. We don't care how many scratch, providing they don't have the itch to pull everybody else down.

The Union Hall of Johnstown has been rented for $800 per annum, by Hon. George Taylor, President Judge, and Hon. George W. Easly, Associate Judge, for the use of the District Court.

Mr. Jas. E. Robb, as will be seen by advertisement, will offer for sale on Tuesday next, one of the best farming lands situate in this county. Those desiring to purchase should not fail to be present.

Improvements are still on the increase in "ye ancient borough." The foundation for Mr. Brown's and Mr. Yenter's buildings has been completed, and other buildings are being rejuvenated with fresh coats of paint.

We direct attention to card of Messrs. Musser & Fleming, Attorneys at Law, in today's issue. These young men we have no hesitation in recommending to the public, as they are both talented and possess the "points" that constitute a lawyer.

The new engine house is being rapidly pushed upward to completion, under the direction of Mr. John Carmen, who has the contract. It will be two stories high—the lower one to be used for the engines and the upper room as a council chamber.

We are glad the principle of patronising home industry is being carried out in practice by many of our business men. Those who don't do so, show by their actions that they don't want their own home support, and of course they shouldn't receive it.

A Rochester gentleman saw an advertisement that the recipe for the cure of dyspepsia might be had by sending a postage stamp to the advertiser. He was a victim and sent his stamp. The answer was—"Dig in the garden and let whisky alone."

An exchange warns the mothers and nurses against the too prevalent practice of drawing little children around the streets backward. It has been known to produce insanity. If you value the health and comfort of your little ones, get them a carriage in which they can ride naturally and enjoy it.

Bishop Kingsley, of the M. E. Church, is about to start westward, on a trip round the world intending to hold conferences and attend to the business of the church in California, China, India, England and other places on his route, and return to New York in something over a year.

A friend suggests the propriety of purchasing one of the neighboring hills for a water reservoir, before other improvements make them cost three times their present value.—We think this is a wise suggestion, for we must have water works some day, and the sooner a company is formed and the ground purchased, the less will be the expense.

See card of A. G. Postlethwaite & Co., General Commission Merchants, 264 South Front Street, Philadelphia. Mr. P. was formerly a resident of Mt. Union, this county, and we would advise our merchants when in the city to give him a call, or send their orders, as they will find him just the man to deal with.

One of the best illustrated weeklies that we receive is the Hearth and Home. The number for May 22 contains the beginning of a good story by R. B. Edson, entitled "Marrying Well." Besides this it has many instructive articles in agriculture, housekeeping, &c. Address Hearth and Home, 37 Park Row, New York.

Bank Robbers Arrested.

Two of the men who robbed the Clearfield Bank of $19,000 recently, were arrested on Thursday last near Bedford, by the Deputy Sheriff of Bedford county and a hack driver. The robbers were brought to this place on Friday, lodged in jail over night, and taken to the Clearfield jail on Saturday. The same men stopped in this place on the Wednesday night before the robbery took place We understand that these men had but a small share of the stolen money, the principal thief being still at large.

The New York Express says that in the incomes of business men of that city, "those who advertise made the largest returns."

Meeting of Conferees.

A meeting of the conferees, selected by the Union Republican party in the Senatorial district composed of the counties of Blair, Centre, Huntingdon, Mifflin, Juniata and Perry, was held at Tyrone on the 18th inst. Said meeting was organized by electing Prof. A. L. Guss as Chairman, and Thomas McCamant as Secretary. The following persons appeared and presented claims as conferees from the respective counties, viz:

Blair County.—Caleb Guyer, Joseph Robison and Thomas McCamant.

Centre County.—John G. Lore, S. D. Gray and P. B. Wilson.

Huntingdon County.—Prof. A. L. Guss, Hon. A. J. Beaver and H. Clay Weaver.

Mifflin County.—David W. Woods, Henry Garver, J. Woods Sterrett and William Mann.

Juniata County.—W. W. Davis, Jeremiah Lyons, J. W. Muthersbaugh, John J. Patterson, Wm. H. Patterson and Hon. John K. Robison.

Perry County.—Jesse L. Gantt, Abraham Grubb and W. Hays.

The seat of J. Woods Sterrett, one of the conferees elected from Mifflin county, being claimed by Wm. Mann by virtue of a letter of substitution, and there being two sets of conferees claiming seats from Juniata county, it was resolved that the claimants be allowed ten minutes each to state their cases. After hearing the proofs and statements of the parties they were requested to retire from the Conference, and it was then resolved, after mature deliberation, that J. Woods Sterrett was entitled to his seat as a conferee from Mifflin county, and that W. W. Davis, Jeremiah Lyons and J. W. Muthersbaugh be admitted as conferees from Juniata county.

William Lewis and David W. Woods were unanimously elected delegates to represent the Senatorial District, composed of the counties aforesaid, in the next Republican State Convention.

The following preamble and resolution were then read and adopted, viz:

WHEREAS, The sentiment of the Union Republican party in the Senatorial district composed of the counties of Blair, Centre, Huntingdon, Mifflin, Juniata, and Perry, being undoubtedly and decidedly favorable to the re-nomination of our present true and loyal Governor, Genl. John W. Geary; therefore,

Be it resolved by this Conference, that Willinn Lewis and David W. Woods, the delegates now elected to represent the district aforesaid in the next Republican State Convention, be and they are hereby instructed to vote for and use all fair and honorable means to secure the re-nomination of Genl. John W. Geary, as our candidate for Governor at the next ensuing general election.

On motion, the town of Huntingdon was recommended as a proper place for the meeting of the next Republican Senatorial Conference in this district; and on motion it was resolved that the proceedings of this conference be published in the different Republican newspapers published in the Senatorial district. There being no other business before the conference, it then adjourned sine die.

Soldiers' Orphans from Cassville School, Citizens.

After arriving at the Cemetery the following will be the ceremonies:

Hymn,
Prayer,
Reading of General Orders from Head quarters Grand Army of the Republic.
Oration,
Decoration,
Doxology:—"Praise God from whom all blessings flow."
Benediction.

The Post respectfully request the citizens of Huntingdon to display their flags at half mast, or draped in mourning.

It is also desired that places of business be closed from twelve to four o'clock in the afternoon.

By order of
MILTON S. LYTLE,
Post Commander.
M. M. LOGAN, Adjutant.

Lines written on the death of Miss Sallie Haugh, of Warriorsmark.

Now the buds and blossoms waken
At the breath of flowery May;
But the dear one from us taken,
Was more beautiful than they.

Gone, our darling, to the blissful bowers,
Where abides eternal spring;
Where shall bloom earth's gathered flowers,
And supernal raptures ring.

Earliest culled the fairest flowers,
Gathered first the fairest sheaves,
Woes of earth, thy chilling showers
Never, never fall on these.

Loved one, oh! we miss thee sadly;
But we know thou'rt safe on high—
There we soon shall meet thee gladly,
Never more to say good-bye.

Cassville Soldiers' Orphan School.

The Soldiers' Orphans at Cassville gave very successful concerts at Johnstown last week, the proceeds to be applied to recruiting their stock of Sunday School Books, etc. From the Tribune we take the following facts furnished by Prof. Guss:

"This school was opened Nov. 6th, 1865. In one month it numbered 108, in six months 155, and then stood at about 175 for two years, and during the last eight months it numbered from 200 to 210. At present we have 202. The health of the children has been most remarkably good. We have not had a case of real sickness for eight months. Not a single child has died. If I had time I would like to give my method of accounting for such remarkable health. It strikes me there might be a lesson learned from it of great practical benefit. I keep these pupils by contract at $140 per year, payable quarterly. For this I have to furnish the buildings and accommodations, boarding, lodging, teachers, school books and stationery, fuel and light, washing and mending, nursing, and pay the doctor—in short everything except new clothing. Any business man may easily see that it takes "tact, talent and good management," to make things meet and move along smoothly. I have tried to meet the requirements of the law and believe with no little joy that my superior officers, the public generally and my pupils give me credit with having made the school a success.

Our school is so completely graded, classified and systematized that we have eight hours school each day, and each pupil six hours and at some work two hours under instruction. We have seventy-five recitations every day. One teacher has charge of the study hall, in which no recitations are heard. We do not propose to give brains, but there is a splendid chance for improvement in an institution like this. Our girls get two hours each day every third week in the sewing department, and during the other two weeks take their turns in the laundress, baking, cooking and some other departments. We turn out some very respectable housekeepers at the age of sixteen. Our boys help do all kinds of out-door work. We are into the gardening business somewhat extensively—raised seven hundred bushels of potatoes last year. Most of the boys relish this exercise and it does them good.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In my last I closed with an appeal to our wealthy men to invest in manufactures. I repeat the appeal. We are glad to see a few of our men of means that have invested in something at home, and we can not but believe that their investments have paid in more ways than one. It has paid not merely in the accumulation of capital, but it has paid in the pride which every man must feel who has the heart of an American local citizen, in seeing the edifices which have gone up to beautify the town and the number of men whose hearts have been gladdened by the employment they receive. It is a source of satisfaction to any man, who has not his heart seared by a too fond desire for money alone, to help his fellow-man. This in our opinion is far greater satisfaction than the hording of oceans of wealth or the possession of hundreds of acres. But all men do not look at it in this light, and we must keep speculations to ourself. Money is the touchstone to every improvement, and is the incentive that moves the purse-string of the capitalist. Looking at in that light then, we must consider whether it pays to invest at home, pecuniarily. We answer that it does. Of course judgment must be used in what to invest, and discretion must be exercised in the manner of investment. Some things pay better than others; but in a town with the facilities of Huntingdon we scarcely know what manufacturing interest would not pay, providing there would not be too many of the same kind, and in this too many err, for when they see that one man gets along well in a certain business they invariably follow in the same way, and thus one kills the other. More anon. IMPROVEMENT.

☞ The vast amount of Plantation Bitters being sold and shipped from New York is almost incredible. Go when and where you will—along the wharves and piers, and at the depots—you will see great piles of these Bitters awaiting shipment and conveyance to every nook and corner of the country, and to the hundreds of foreign ports. They are very popular among all classes of people, and are conceded to be just the thing for this climate. No Bitters have yet been introduced which have become so deservedly popular and worthy of patronage, to all who require a tonic and stimulant. They are prepared with pure St. Croix Rum, Calisaya and Cascarilla Bark, and all the world knows full well what beautiful results accrue from these combinations.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price. tf

HOWE Sewing Machines

ARE THE

Oldest Established of any in the World.
Over 50,000 Sold in 1868.

These unequaled machines are adapted to every variety of sewing for family wear, from the lightest muslins to the heaviest cloths, and to the use of Seamstresses, Dress Makers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Ladies' Boots and Shoes, Linen Goods, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will seam, quilt, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed. Over 50,000 of these unrivalled machines were manufactured and sold during the year 1868. This is unprecedented in the history of sewing machines, and is another proof of the great popularity of the Howe Machine.

They have invariably won the highest honors at the great Exhibitions of the world, culminating at the late Exposition Universelle at Paris, where was awarded for THE HOWE MACHINE—the Imperial Prize; the Cross of the Legion of Honor; a Gold Medal, the highest prize within the gift of the Jury, being the result of its EVIDENT EXCELLENCE.

Our interest not being second to that of purchasers of machines, in their successful operation, we hold ourselves in readiness to render any necessary and practicable assistance, by correspondence or otherwise, for this purpose, and for faithfulness in this respect, reference is made to the tens of thousands now using these machins.

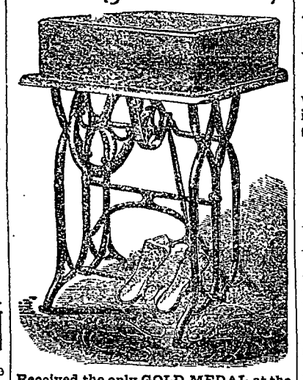
Sewing Machines,



Received the only GOLD MEDAL at the PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.

They are adapted to all kinds of Family Sewing, and to the use of Seamstresses, Dressmakers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Ladies' Boots and Shoes, Linen Goods, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will seam, quilt, gather, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind, and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed.

The qualities which recommend them are:

1. Beauty and excellence of stitch, alike on both sides of the fabric sewed.
2. Strength, firmness and durability of seam, that will not rip nor ravel.
3. Economy of Thread.
4. Attachments and wide range of application to purposes and materials.
5. Compactness and elegance of model and finish.
6. Simplicity and thoroughness of construction.
7. Speed, ease of operation and management, and quietness of movement.

Instructions free to all. Machines kept in repair one year free of charge.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remitant Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgements we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

McGUIRE'S

SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR,

And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries.—No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

—o—

McGUIRE'S

Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances. This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing.—When thus used it at once relieves headache.
